Art Direction

I am a passionate filmmaker and director who believes in the transformative power of film and stories. I've participated in various stages of creative projects, from ideas, presenting them to colleagues and clients to production. I also have experience in content creation and art direction for social media, therefore have a variety of skills applicable to different media forms. I believe in implementing all my professional and personal experiences into my directing, making it authentic. Aside from my job I write screenplays and work on personal creative projects including shorts I act in, analogue collages and various forms of mixed media.
